

Back Test your knowledge: Incident response operations
Detection and Response Series

Tim Hsu, Q. CONTACT

Your grade: 100%

You have 100% — Your Highest. 100% — To pass you need at least 70% Retake your highest score.

Next Item

1. What are the goals of a computer security incident response team (CSIRT)? Select three answers. 0.3 point

- To provide services and resources for response and recovery
 - Nice work
 - The goals of CSIRTs are to effectively and efficiently manage incidents, prevent future incidents from occurring, and provide services and resources for response and recovery.
- To manage incidents
 - Nice work
 - The goals of CSIRTs are to effectively and efficiently manage incidents, prevent future incidents from occurring, and provide services and resources for response and recovery.
- To handle the public disclosure of an incident
- To prevent future incidents from occurring
 - Nice work
 - The goals of CSIRTs are to effectively and efficiently manage incidents, prevent future incidents from occurring, and provide services and resources for response and recovery.

2. Which document outlines the procedures to follow after an organization experiences a ransomware attack? 0.3 point

- An incident response plan
- A network diagram
- A security policy
- A service list
 - Nice work
 - An incident response plan outlines the procedures to follow after an organization experiences a ransomware attack.

3. Fill in the blank. The job of _____ is to investigate alerts and determine whether an incident has occurred. 0.3 point

- public relations representative
- security analyst
- incident coordinator
- technical leads
 - Nice work
 - Security analysts investigate security alerts and determine whether an incident has occurred.

4. Which member of a CSIRT is responsible for tracking and managing the activities of all teams involved in the response process? 0.3 point

- Security analyst
- Incident coordinator
- Public relations representative
- Technical lead
 - Nice work
 - An incident coordinator is responsible for tracking and managing the activities of all teams involved in the response process.