The book Ancient Egypt (Oxford University Press, 2003) by David P. Silverman is recommended as a companion text for this course. All quizzes will be based on lecture videos, but many of the chapters in Ancient Egypt align with lecture subjects. The book is available in several languages, and students wishing to delve deeper into the material will find it to be a worthwhile resource. Additionally, Dr. Silverman and his team have curated lists of free and web-based materials, as well as additional books that can be purchased, and these resources will be noted throughout the course.
